Dear Valued Customer,

Healthy Origins® was founded in 1996 with a simple but very challenging mission statement: “to provide the world’s highest quality nutritional products at affordable prices.” We know our products are effective because our customers say they can “feel the difference” and as a result they continue to purchase our products.

All of us at Healthy Origins are committed to the following founding principles that we feel are necessary to guarantee the quality of our products:

We start by sourcing the highest quality active ingredients from the most reputable suppliers in the world. Most of our active ingredients are patented branded ingredients manufactured by reputable suppliers who are leaders in their respective fields. Healthy Origins is the only brand committed to placing the brand ingredients on the front of the label, not hidden in small print on the back. We use these more expensive trademarked ingredients in most of our products because they have the science to support their safety, quality and efficiency. As an example, Healthy Origins has always purchased our CoQ10 from Kaneka Corporation in Japan. The Kaneka Q10 brand is the only source in the world that is produced through a yeast fermentation process and is 100% natural (trans-isomer) and pharmaceutical grade, the purest quality available. Our Kaneka Q10 raw material is now made in Pasadena, Texas, the only CoQ10 made in the USA. Many other brands of CoQ10 purchase their raw materials from China and other countries that produce a synthetic (CIS form) derived from tobacco. Kaneka Q10 is world’s only CoQ10 with GRAS (Generally Recognized As Safe) status. Kaneka Q10 has been proven safe in numerous human clinical studies. Healthy Origins is the only CoQ10 branded product approved by Kaneka Corporation for sale to their own employees. The use of expensive branded ingredients set Healthy Origins® apart from all of our competitors.

Healthy Origins product labels disclose all ingredients used in the formulation. There are no hidden fillers, binders, coatings, artificial colors or flavors that could diminish the bioavailability or integrity of our products. In addition, our products are free of yeast, wheat, gluten, sugar, starch and preservatives. Healthy Origins takes extra efforts to ensure stability and shelf life so each and every capsule or tablet you buy has the same promise of excellence efficacy. Our products are synergistically formulated significantly enhancing absorption and bioavailability. We routinely test our products and verify each with a Certificate of Analysis.

In addition, we conduct on-site inspections to insure our ingredients are manufactured in modern facilities that are cGMP and ISO 9001 compliant with the highest QA/QC standards.
